

Bisexuality Basics (Fall 2010)

Brief description of program: This was a short presentation given by an intern as part of their internship which introduced those in attendance to terms and topics related to bisexual people and experiences.

Who was asked to complete survey:

Students, faculty, staff, and community members who attended.

Respondents: 5 people

Administration Type: paper and pencil and entered by office into StudentVoice

Summary of Key Findings: Responses were mixed. It was a relatively small sample size, and all self-identified as LGBTQ or an ally, and the effectiveness of the training as targeted to this audience seems unclear.

Actions Taken: None. This was a one-time training.
