

Learning to Lead Conference 2012

Brief description of program:

The 2012 Learning to Lead Conference will be a great opportunity for emerging, and experienced student leaders, as well as the general student body to learn how to become a more rounded leader. The theme for Fall 2012 was Uncharted Leadership: Exploring Visions for Success and was held on Saturday, November 10th, 2012 at the University of Utah's Guest House. Our Keynote speaker was Scott Silverman, the Associate Director of Student Affairs, University Honors at the University of California, Riverside. The conference was $10 for all University of Utah students and $15 for staff, faculty, and anyone not affiliated with the University of Utah.

Who was asked to complete survey:

All 100 student participants; included a few students from SLCC and UVU

Response Rate: 70% (70 of 100)

Administration Type: Paper with Excel upload to Campus Labs

Summary of Key Findings:

Overall, the students enjoyed the conference. They found it beneficial. The comments were also good. We received good feedback.

Actions Taken:

None yet. Will implement and plan accordingly for our next Learning to Lead Conference in Fall 2013.

Which department and/or program goals does this program align with?

The Learning to Lead conference aligned with the office's goal to provide opportunities that enrich and support personal and academic growth for students.

Which Student Affairs goals does this program align with?

The Leadership conference aligned with the strategic objective 1. Develop students as a whole through the cultivation and enrichment of the body, mind and spirit, goal and action d. Support leadership opportunities. Additionally, it aligns with Values 1. Student engagement, 2. Professionalism, and 8. Best practices.