

National Student Exchange Program Evaluations

Brief description of program / project:

The National Student Exchange Program allows students from consortium institutions (approx. 200) around the United States and Canada to exchange between schools and still earn credit towards graduation on their home campus.

Who was asked to complete survey: Students who participated in NSE, either coming to the University from another institution, or Exchanging to another institution from the University - over 250 students since 2007.

Respondents: 46 students who came to the U from other institutions, and 55 UU students who went to other institutions, through May 15, 2011

Administration Type: Online survey emailed to participants

Summary of Key Findings:

- Main reasons for participating are to experience a new part of the country, both in climate and geography, as well as a different part of American Culture.
- Respondents, overall, were happy with their Exchange experience.
- Exchange did not have any overall effect on respondents' GPA, choice of major.
